CRAIG, CHITWOOD ELECTED TO CARMEL CITY COUNCIL

Donald M. Craig, incumbent, and Commander John Chitwood were elected to the Carmel City Council Tuesday by extremely comfortable margins. One hundred and fourteen voters didn't bother to answer the zoning advisory question, but the remaining 970 were represented by 83.5 percent who voted "no." The figures: 819 noes; 161 ayes.

Only 1094 persons voted, representing 43 percent of the registered electors. This percentage is low, but is in line with the usual state or national turnout. For the council seats, the 1094 votes were cast in the following manner:

Donald Craig - 754.
John Chitwood - 514.
Fred Farr - 335.
Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte - 250.
Leonard Carey - 245.

Mr. Craig said, "I am very happy and grateful for the support of the people and want to thank those who voted for me. I also wish to thank those who voted no on the zoning advisory question. The council will know how to deal with the problem that faces it now, and we are gratified to learn that people still wish to preserve the traditions we hold dear."

Mr. Craig also offered congratulations to Commander Chitwood and gave thanks to the other candidates, because "we presented a united platform."

Commander Chitwood stated that he was "very much pleased and gratified by the opportunity

Eye Openers on the Peninsula

WITH

Betsy Abbott

Carmel has a flavor and, to steal a cliche, it is "to each his own." The artists claim our magnificent sunsets, our jagged wind-worn rocks and beautiful wind-blown trees... The traveler, our balmy sunkist beaches, the unhurried tempo of our town, but the traveler who has come, stayed or who plans to return, secretly claims it all his very own . . .

KIP'S FOOD CENTER, renowned on the peninsula for its excellent service and hospitality, is located on Ocean and San Carlos, Carmel. The meat department features Saturday specials that shouldn't be overlooked; also you will find well-aged, tender meats in a large variety, as well as cold-cuts and cheeses. KIP'S shelves are loaded to the brim with delectables to help you plan your weekly menus. For your convenience KIP'S is open every day, including Sundays and holidays ... 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. ... to serve the city." He was sorry that all the candidates could not find a seat on the council.

"I will now endeavor to carry out the platform for which I stood," he said.

The final canvassing of the votes will be held next Tuesday night at the last meeting of the old City Council and the first meeting of the new. The new mayor will be chosen to replace outgoing Fred Godwin and it is expected that the various city commissioners will be named for each council seat.

Dear Sir:

I am taking a course in "California History" and have to write a paper on the restoration of the missions.

I understand that a splendid article on the restoration of San Antonio Mission appeared in the Dec. 1st and 8th editions of the Carmel SPECTATOR.

Would it be possible to send me a copy of each of these papers?...

Yours truly,

A PLEASANT DAY OF ELECTIONEERING

The people of Carmel went to the polls Tuesday with the knowledge that they couldn't go wrong. Partisanship was absent in this year's City Council election and all of the candidates were of calibre worthy of sitting on the local governing board.

Congratulations to Mr. Craig and Commander Chitwood. Thanks to Mr. Farr, Mrs. Clairmonte and Mr. Carey.

To those people who are not familiar with the backgrounds of Mr. Craig and Commander Chitwood, we would direct their attention to the two articles on them which appeared in the March 9 and 16 issues of The SPECTATOR. In the Monterey Airport District election, this publication could hardly have been more gratified. The two candidates The SPECTATOR supported were elected to office: Dr. James Finley, incumbent, 461 votes, and Alton Walker, 441 votes.

All in all, a pleasant day of electioneering.

CANCER SOCIETY VOLUNTEERS LISTED

April is csncer month all over the United States. During this month the American Cancer Society conducts its annual educational and fund-raising drive dedicated to preventing needless deaths from cancer through its three-fold program of research, education snd service.

Millions of Californians will read and hear educational messages through the cooperation of newspapers and radio stations. Thousands of money contribution cans are now in stores and other places to make it easy to contribute. Letters and other appeals are going out to public spirited citizens for support.

Ninety-eight percent of all the work necessary to carry on such a campaign comes through the efforts of volunteer non-paid workers so that money raised can go directly to the program of the American Cancer Society.

On the Monterey Peninsula the drive has been named in honor of the late well known and beloved William O'Donnell who died of cancer last year. As in the past several years on the Monterey Peninsula, the 20-30 Club under the chairmanship of Cliff Johansen, of Pacific Grove, will make the direct public appeal.

The organization of the Monterey County Branch of the American Cancer Society has been set up as a year-round functional unit under the leadership of Byington Ford, of Carmel Valley. Mrs. Fred Godwin, of Carmel, is Administrative Vice President and Miss Peg Bowen, of Carmel Valley, is Executive Secretary.

This year for the first time, the cancer drive will take in all of Monterey County instead of just the peninsula. County-wide chairman is Niles Pease, of Monterey. Pease has enlisted the active support of the newly formed Tri-County Druggist Association. Mr. George Sargenti, of Salinas, is president of this group and is unit chairman for Salinas and the Salinas Valley. In

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES VISIT FRANK HEFFELFINGER DURING HIS ANNUAL STAY AT PEBBLE BEACH

As is the custom during Frank T. Heffelfinger's annual sojourn at Del Monte Lodge, a large number of family members and friends join him for several weeks at a time. Currently at Pebble Beach are his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Totton P. Heffelfinger, of Minneapolis, who are well known on the Pacific Coast. Among those who have planned affairs in the visitors' honor are Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, Colonel and Mrs. Paul S. Winslow, snd Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton. The Heffelfingers' young sons, John and Christopher, have just joined their parents this week for the Easter holidays.

Other grandchildren of the senior Mr. Heffelfinger, who spent the Easter vacation at Del Monte Lodge, are Nan Ewing, who attends Mills College, and Frank Heffelfinger Ewing, who attends Thatcher School at Ojai. They are the children of Mrs. H. Terry Morrison, of Minneapolis.

Mr. Heffelfinger's brother, W. W. (Pudge) Heffelfinger, arrived today from Blessing, Texas, to spend a fortnight. "Pudge" is probably the greatest guard in football history. While playing for Yale in 1889-90 and '91, he was named to Walter Camp's All-American football teams and later coached at Yale. During a recent convalescence in the hospital he received thousands of fan letters from all over the country.

Mrs. Peavey Heffelfinger, of Minneapolis, (Republican National Committeewoman from Minnesota) a daughter-in-law, will arrive later this week to spend some time at Pebble Beach.

Mr. Heffelfinger recently hosted his annual luncheon and golf tournament at the Cypress Point Club. Though he has been entertaining with such an affair for more than 20 years, it was the twelfth event for the Heffelfinger Cup, which this year was won by Harrison Godwin, with Thomas Mathews coming in Second and Hillyer Brown third. Mr. Heffelfinger is an ardent golfer himself, for despite his 80 years, he plays 18 holes and more often 27 holes of golf every day during his Pebble Beach visit.

Among those who enjoyed the beautiful day at Cypress Point with Mr. Heffelfinger were: Mrs. Chauncey McKeever and her mother, Mrs. Clinton L. Walker; Mrs. Willis Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Patee, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clear, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse, Colonel and Mrs. Paul S. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Godwin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt, Miss Janet Folsom, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher A. # FBI Links Brinks Hoist To Carmel Lass

By Bill Martin

When Susan Grimsley, of Carmel, finished reading a recent letter from her naval officer fiance, who is stationed at Quonsett Point, Rhode Island, large tears were spilling down her cheeks. To her anxious mother's "What's the matter, dear?", Susan could only answer, "Brinks."

"What's that, dear?" her mother tried again.

"Brinks," Susan repeated mournfully.

And thereby hangs a tale, a story which would not be plausible as fiction. Brinks? Well, yes, Brinks.

It started back in January when Susan's fiance had completed his duty at the Navy Genesal Line School in Monterey. Stopping off in Memphis for a short time while en route to Norfolk for further orders, Lieutenant Commander....., the hero of our tale, received a strange letter from Susan, who has a flair for broad humour, as many Carmelites know.

Susan had just read several newspaper accounts of the, as yet, unsolved robbery of millions of dollars from the Brinks office in Boston. She recalled that Lieutenant Commander..... wore a rubber wolf's mask, similar to those used by the bandits, during the Halloween party of the Navy School. Clipping out one of the newspaper stories, Susan underlined certain sentences, wrote on plain yellow paper a mysterious note headed "Dear No Nose" and signed "Slats," filled in the in-between with veiled references to "the job" 'and where's my cut of the 500 grand); she even congratulated him on "another job" he was supposed to have "pulled in Memphis."

Lieutenant Commander.....received the letter, laughed at its absurd contents (knowing full well that "Slats" was our gal Susan), then he placed it with the rest of his correspondence in a small waterproof bag - and forgot about it, we imagine. He was transferred to Quonsett Point, and during February flew down to Cuba for maneuvers. A few weeks later, he returned by air, but just off the New England Coast someone mistakenly kicked open the bomb bay doors of his plane. The little waterproof bag fell into the sea.

Lieutenant Commander----- went out in a small boat to look for it, but he didn't find it. It wasn't found until about a month later when a fisherman picked it up from a small island in the Atlantic.

He was human enough to open the bag and read the letters. Nothing much. Just letters. Then he read the letter on plain yellow paper. He must have scanned it hurriedly at first, then carefully, then even more carefully. A few moments later, our fisherman set sail for Boston, where he contacted the FBI. Following are excerpts from Lieutenant Commander....'s letter: the one that brought tears to the eyes of Susan Grimsley, of Carmel:

"... the other morning I got a phone call from Providence and an FBI agent wanted to talk to me. So he drove down here and I met him at the BOQ...two of them, in fact. By this time I was wondering what the hell had gone wrong with my life and why things couldn't be more simple. So we slid down to my room in BOQ... where he carefully looked around, locked the door, and then said, 'We have information that leads us to believe you're a member of the gang that robbed Brinks of a couple of million dollars.' At this I nearly fell out of my chair. Then after many questions it came out that he was talking about your letter. I told him that 'Slats' was really a very nice girl in Carmel.

"He said 'What's her name?'" 'Susan Grimsley.' 'What's her alias?'" 'Slats.' 'Does she have a record?'" 'No.' 'Is she wanted by the police?'" etc., etc. I think I finally cleared your name of the charge of being a gun moll. Then I had to prove where I was on the 17th of January (the big day). Luckily, I had just checked into Norfolk, and also had some gasoline credit slips used on the way up, so finally they conceded that maybe I didn't do it. But I was visibly shaken. And my reputation around the squadron is quite shady. Everyone goes around pretending to pull guns on me and they as a matter of course open my mail and insert dire threats in it from such characters as 'Chicago Louey,' 'Big Nose Sam,' 'Killer Katz' and other lovely members of mythical gangs. It is most disturbing to a person like myself of such high character and lofty ideals. And you won't get the $500,000! Sometimes I don't understand life..."

And that's the story, absolutely true-to-life and straight from the files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. That is, if you care to look it up.

Incidentally, Susan's fiance was careful to point out that the FBI will probably want to talk to her. So don't holler copper if you see a man in a snap brim hat skulking after her. He'll be a copper himself.

AUDUBON SOCIETY ANNOUNCES LAST SCREEN TOUR OF THE SEASON

A lecture with the tang of the Gulf and the glory of the Rockies is the all-color film, "From Coast to Crest," that the Audubon Society will present as the final Screen Tour of the season on Tuesday, April 25, in Sunset School auditorium. It combines some of the most skillful bird and scenic photography ever taken, augmented with a touch of flower, mammal and insect material for variety. The lecturer will be Alexander Sprunt, Jr., author and authority on conservation.

On the Gulf Coast of Texas are sanctuaries of the National Audubon Society where such species as the roseate spoonbill, American and snowy egrets, black skimmers and oyster-catchers find a haven. Showy in color and fascinating in habit, these and other birds are pictured as they live a protected life in natural habitat.

From Texas the film journey is inland to the land of the Navajos in Arizona. In a country of dense desert flowers with snow-capped mountains as a backdrop, Navajo Indians and their sheep eke out an existence. The collared lizard, the handsome yellow princess plume, and the pink hedgehog cactus are their neighbors.

The Grand Canyon is filmed in all its grandeur as well as Monument Valley with its "mittens," joshua trees and sandstones.

Along the Colorado River in Utah erosion remnants in Arches National Monument form statuesque columns and natural bridges, Thistle, bumblebee and red penstemen choose this setting for their home.

Through Colorado's Mesa Verde with its cliff palaces to Wyoming's Grand Tetons the trip from coast to crest continues, and at Yellowstone it ends. All the way "From Coast to Crest" in one hour of colorful travel accompanied by an expert guide.

The Audubon Society also announces that as in previous lectures the net proceeds will be donated to the Point Lobos League fund for the purchase of land near the Carmel River mouth for use as a state park. Mrs. Isabelle Terhune requests that any members desiring to attend the dinner for Mr. Sprunt should telephone her at 7-6028.

"Inside Forbidden Tibet," an all color picture-lecture by Lowell Thomas, Jr., will be presented Fridsy, April 21, at the Pacific Grove High School auditorium. The film trek to the capital city of Lhasa, 12,000 feet high, takes the audience into untouched regions where Marco Polo couldn't gain access.

The show will be presented in one lecture only at 8:30 p.m., with tickets on sale at Abinante's Music Stores, Monterey and Carmel, and at Coleman's Music Store, Pacific Grove. Orders will also be filled by local management, Alice Seckels, Box 643, Carmel.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Allen Knight, Carmel City Councilman, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" Although he was born in 1901 in San Francisco, Mr. Knight has lived off and on in Carmel since he was a small child, visiting his aunt, Alys Miller, with whom he is now co-owner of the Sun Dial Court in Carmel. Educated in San Francisco schools and at Davis Agricultural College, Mr. Knight shipped out as a seaman with the merchant marine at the age of 17. He had six years of experience with sailing vessels, traveling all over the world, and his love of the sea prompted him to build the well known structure next to his home on Sixth and Guadalupe. It is constructed of parts of 57 wrecked and dismantled ships, many of which washed up along the Monterey coastline. Employed with the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. for 15 years, Mr. Knight entered the realty and building business in 1943, following 18 months as commanding officer of the First Ship's Co., Naval Marine Force, California State Guard. He first settled permanently in Carmel in 1928 and married the former Adele Hawes, of Monterey, in 1933. They have three children: Alys, Allene and Allen, 16, 15 and 14 years old, respectively. Mr. Knight is president of the Navy League district representative of the Monterey Peninsula Realty Board and president of the Carmel Sanitary Board. He has been a member of the Carmel City Council six years, with two years to go on his present term. His hobby is "ships and sailing," and his collection of marine lore is one of the largest in the area.

Models Sought For Contest

Through the Carmel jewelry and silverware shop, The House That Jack Built, local girls have an opportunity to win a chance to pose for Illustrator Jon Whitcomb, receiving a full week's all-expense trip to New York City, $100 extra cash for incidental expenses and $100 a day while modeling (about three days).

The only requirement is that the girls be attractive, for they will be judged by a committee - headed by Jon Whitcomb. The offer is made by Oneida, Ltd., manufacturers of Community Silverplate, who will feature winning girls in regional advertisements of their product.

For those girls who do not have a recent photograph, Murl Ogden, local photographer, is making a special offer in connection with the contest. He will make a special glamour photograph for $5, and the offer is good until May 1, when the contest entries close.

By filling out an application blank, which is available at The House That Jack Built, and sending it with her photograph, any local girl has a chance to be one of the four winners nationally. Incidentally, winning categories will be divided up by population areas from which the contestants come. One winner will be chosen from each of the following type areas: Towns of 25,000 population and under, towns of $25,001 to 100,000, towns from 100,001 to 500,000, cities of more than 500,000. The contest closes at midnight, May 1, 1950, and winners will be announced in July. Only one application per person will be considered, but more than one photograph may be submitted.

MERCHANTS DISAGREE WITH TRAFFIC EXPERTS

Meeting Tuesday, Monterey's council was scheduled to take up a request by New Monterey Merchants for designations of places and persons to take a petition.

The petition, if it gets signatures of 15 percent of Monterey voters, will put a referendum to the voters.

Attorney Edmund M.sSullivan, who represents the merchants, has told Monterey councilmen informally he believes the question will relate to Lighthouse Avenue only, but will seek a return to diagonal parking, and an end of parking meters. Businessmen charge a change in the traffic situation on Lighthouse has hit their business hard.

Feeling in the controversy about Lighthouse Avenue has been deep. A post card poll earlier in the year gave yes votes from 50 percent of voters who felt Lighthouse Avenue should retain diagonal parking. But traffic experts say parallel parking is better for traffic -- and better for business. Walter Hahn and others say the same is true of parking meters.

Looking at their daily receipts, New Monterey merchants, so far, disagree.

"Is it too Late, Doctor?"

SOONER OR LATER, 1 out of every 5 living Americans may ask this question about cancer.

THE answer may be: "Yes . . . I'm afraid so . . ."

But, today, the doctor can say to increasing numbers of cancer victims, "No, it is by no means too late . . . There is much that we can do . . . In fact, your chances for recovery are good."

This heartening reply of medical science gives us good reason to believe that, as the years go by, the ancient dream of conquering this disease will be realized.

Cancer research supported by the American Cancer Society has already yielded new surgical techniques and improved methods of using x-ray and radium. More recently, research with radio-active isotopes has revealed new facts about cell processes, hormones and certain anti-cancer drugs — thus making possible more effective control of some types of cancer.

Part of the money you donate will support research that may save millions of lives. Give generously—so that sometime in the future doctors may never have to say: "I'm afraid it's too late."

"BIKINI"! More than once I have been asked if French women really wear those "next-to-nothing little things on the Atlantic or Mediterranean beaches. Well, frankly, No - at least not at crowded resorts where they might have a gendarme tapping them on the shoulder as soon as they started walking around. It is true that the "Bikini" is ideal as a sun-suit... and many women use it as such in an "off-the-beaten-path" place. Only a person of questionable taste would show herself in such an attire while swimming or playing on the shore. As a rule, the woman slender enough to be able to wear one has another bathing suit which she puts on to go play games or have a swim. Anyway, a French person, man or woman, has always two bathing-suits--one to go in the water with, the other in which to loaf on the sand. They seem to think that it is very unhealthful to let a wet suit dry on the body. Most bikinis photographed as coming from France are worn on a semi-private island off the coast of Cannes - or at a beauty contest. Another thing: it may surprise you to know that on some beaches and swimming pools the two-piece suits are not allowed.

PIERRE BALMAIN

For you who plan to go to France this summer: Most of my American friends in Paris wanted to find a dressmaker who could make for them models they admired - quickly and at reasonable prices. I gave them some addresses and so far not one has been dissatisfied. The best dressmaker I know of is not living in a fancy place, but she was Schiaparelli's first cutter before she married. She had to give up her work because of her two children. She can make any model, will advise you on what to wear, and where to buy good materials. She does beautiful hand work and has professional pride. Her specialty is suits. If you are interested, drop a line to the SPECTATOR, Box AO, Carmel, with your name and address, and I will send you her address.

Recipe for tomates farcies (stuffed tomatoes): Take nice round not-too-ripe tomatoes - two to a person. Slice off tops and save. Scoop out the inside of the tomatoes. Fill with stuffing made of ground meat (half beef, half veal) mixed with bread, the inside of the tomatoes, chopped parsley, garlic and seasoning to taste, with enough milk to make it smooth but not liquid. Replace cap, butter on top, and let bake at medium heat until well done. These are often better when reheated. Perfect with French fried potatoes and salad.

Sea Otters At YANKEE POINT

Peninsulites have been flocking down to Yankee Point (where the new Carmel Riviera subdivision is located below Carmel Highlands) to watch the almost extinct sea otter loll on his back just off the rocky coast. A spokesman for the Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove reports that sea otters, considered extinct until a dozen years ago, are represented by a herd of about 200 animals. They apparently migrate up and down the West Coast.

Generally, the sea otter looks something like a seal (see photo), but it is not the same animal and appears to enjoy life immeasurably. They lie on their backs, resting their short forepaws on their chests, and ride on kelp beds as though they were fat men in a swimming pool. According to Adele Ogden, author of The California Sea Otter Trade, 1784-1848, the adult male animal measures from four to five feet from nose to tip of tail, and weighs up to 80 pounds.

"Its round or blunt head, short thick neck, its small, flat, and pointed ears, its short, white whiskers - similar to, but coarser and stiffer than those of a cat - and its black eyes, which may be either calm or gleaming wildly or vindictively, are all peculiar to the sea otter," the author reports.

It is thought that many, many years ago the sea otter was not particularly shy, but after being hunted for his beautiful fur, nigh unto extinction, the little fellow is quite afraid of human beings.

Anyway, it's much more pleasant to watch for sea otters than for flying saucers or submarines.
